

Opportunity: Junior Environmental Graphic Designer | 0-5 Years

Our Collective Vision

The core values of Hollis + Miller are at the heart of everything that we do. As a Hollis + Miller team member, you live our core values through your day-to-day efforts as we work together to Design the Future.

- We are purpose driven, making a difference by impacting the lives of others through our work.
- We are people centric, empowering those around us to learn and grow within our dynamic culture.
- We believe in the power of we, supporting diversity of thought and recognizing that good ideas can come from anywhere.

Why You're Here

1. Bachelor's degree in visual communication, graphic design, or related field
2. Proficiency with Adobe Creative Suite, Microsoft Office 365 and/or experience with other software within a Mac environment required. Additional CADtools, Revit, Bluebeam, and Enscape experience is a plus
3. Strong design skills and knowledge of design principles, including color theory, typography, layout, and composition
4. Excellent written and verbal communication skills
5. Logical thinking and problem-solving skills
6. Strong understanding/familiarity with the architectural project process, ADA & other code requirements, materials usage, scale, lighting, and construction of environmental graphics preferred but not required
7. Experience in wayfinding, environmental graphics, and architectural signage preferred but not required

Who You Are

1. Creative mind, positive attitude, accountable, thorough, results oriented
2. Exceptional drive, commitment, initiative, time-management/multi-tasking, risk management, and ability to problem solve independently
3. Ability to work under tight deadlines with multiple clients & teams, manage multiple deadlines and project assignments
4. Attention to quality and detail
5. Excellent communication and relational skills with the ability to lead and guide a design team and communicate effectively with clients
6. Eager to learn, seeking continual growth and development

What You Do

1. An Integrated Team Member who collaborates with architects, interior designers, specifications writers, & structural engineers to implement strategic design solutions
2. Participate in design reviews and provide feedback on other team members' designs
3. Design, coordinate & document packages for signage, wayfinding, and environmental graphic projects that meet the project vision, goals, and requirements
4. Accountable for effective coordination with design team, contractors, vendors, and consultants throughout the design process including specifications, materials, and locations for signage, wayfinding, and other graphic elements.
5. Conduct on-site visits to survey existing conditions, gather field measurements, and perform punch walks.
6. Assists Creative Director and other Environmental Graphic Designers in promoting an interdisciplinary design approach.
7. Research industry trends, materials and technologies to ensure that all designs are innovative and relevant to client needs
8. Mentors less experienced graphics team and studio team members in Environmental Graphics & Graphic Design expertise
9. Seeks to build an internal and external market leadership presence

We may alter any or all the above from time to time to further our desire to make you, our self and our clients great! Hollis + Miller Architects is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

